Rights and Limits on Filming in Public Facilities

August 23, 2019 by Aidan Mathis
Category: Court Decisions and AGO Opinions

“First Amendment audits” are an alarming recent phenomenon that has been occurring in local government agencies across Washington and the country. These “audits” typically involve private citizens videotaping or otherwise recording an interaction with their local government — such as the police or another official in performing his or her duties or the day-to-day activities inside city hall or another government building.

These “auditors” are intentionally pushing the boundaries of their First Amendment rights to see whether the city responds in a way that is consistent with what the auditors believe their rights to be. These auditors may be belligerent or confrontational, sometimes attempting to induce a violation of their rights, which can then serve as the basis of a legal claim against the local government.

This blog post will explore what the rights of these auditors truly are, and how local government agencies can respond if they encounter one.

What Rights Do the Public Have to Film?

Members of the public do have broad rights to film interactions with local government officials and police officers in Washington State. While under RCW 9.73.030 it is a crime to record any private conversation without first obtaining the consent of all parties engaged in it, the courts have repeatedly held that this law does not apply to public conversations between citizens and police officers.

The Ninth Circuit Federal Court of Appeals first acknowledged the First Amendment right of citizens to film police officers carrying out their duties in public in the case Fordyce v. City of Seattle, 55 F.3d 436 (1995). Later, in Lewis v. State, Dept. of Licensing, 157 Wash.2d 446 (2006), the Washington State Supreme Court also ruled in favor of recording public police activity in the context of a traffic stop. The Court held that there was no reasonable expectation of privacy in a brief, official business conversation between an officer and a driver on a public highway, making RCW 9.73.030 inapplicable to the situation.

In addition, citizens lawfully present at the scene of police activity may express verbal criticism—even profane and abusive criticism—towards police officers carrying out their duties so long as the citizens do not physically touch the officers or issue threatening statements or movements. See State v. E.J.J., 183 Wash. 2d 497 (2015). Thus, members of the public do have a right to record the police in the public performance of their duties, even when the recording involves abusive language being directed towards the officers.

This right also likely extends to recordings of other government officials in public spaces, such as city hall. While there has not been a case explicitly granting such a right, the reasoning behind Lewis v. State, Dept. of Licensing should apply to other public employees as well. As with the traffic stop in Lewis, there is likely no reasonable expectation of privacy for a conversation between a government official and a citizen in places that are open to the public. The State Attorney General has also opined that citizens have a right to record open public meetings, such as a city council meeting, giving some additional support to the notion that citizens have a right to record their government’s public conduct. Therefore, citizens likely do have the right to record any government business that occurs in areas open to public examination.

What Can Cities Do?

Although citizens have broad rights to record their government, there are limits that can be imposed.

If the behavior of an auditor interferes with the operation of government or the ability of other members of the public to use a public facility, an auditor may be removed from public property they would otherwise be entitled to be in. See State v. Blair, 65 Wash. App. 64 (1992).

Note that such a disruption would have to consist of more than the mere act of recording. In order to be lawfully removed the auditor’s actions must make it impossible for city business to continue in an orderly fashion. Profane or abusive language doesn’t create a sufficient disruption by itself, either—only if such language qualifies as a physical threat or “fighting words” (words that inflict injury themselves or tend to incite an immediate breach of the peace) or if the act (not just the content) of speaking itself disrupts city business, is there cause for members of the public to be removed.

The local government entity can also act to prevent filming in areas of its facilities that are not open to the public. Auditor access to such areas would constitute trespassing, and any conversations recorded would be private for the purposes of RCW 9.73.030.

Ultimately, if an auditor doesn't run afoul of these boundaries, the best advice for local government staff and elected officials is to ignore the auditors and not engage with them except to conduct business. Otherwise, a confrontation with an auditor may lead to a public allegation of a "violation" of their constitutional rights, both in the press and online, and perhaps even to a court challenge that the jurisdiction has attempted to violate the public's constitutional rights.

Regular Meeting of the Library Board of Trustees
Tuesday, May 17, 2022 – Zoom meeting
3:30 p.m.

Minutes of Actions and Decisions of the Library Board of Trustees of the Bellingham Public Library as authorized by RCW 27.12.210 and SEC. 7.02 Charter of the City of Bellingham.

Board Members Present: Rick Osen, Jim McCabe, Rebecca Craven and Kristy Van Ness

Library Staff: Rebecca Judd, Annette Bagley, Bethany Hoglund, Jon McConnel, Jennifer Vander Ploeg, Katie Bray and Wendy Jenkins

Others Present: Kristina Michele Martens, City Council Liaison; Jennie Tuckerman, Friends of BPL Co-President; Jeff Jewel, Photo Archives Research Technician for Whatcom Museum

Call to order and introductions: Regular session was called to order at 3:30 p.m. by Chair, Rick Osen.

Approve/modify agenda: Rebecca Craven moved to approve the agenda. Jim McCabe seconded. Motion carried.

Public comment: no comments.

Consent agenda: Kristy provided a minutes' correction: the sixth sentence of the second bullet under Public Library Association (PLA) Conference round-up should read "... Junior Youth Board representatives were discussed at one session" rather than "... Junior Youth Board representatives were in attendance." Wendy pointed out that the YTD report reflects an increase of $279,090 in the Library's budget due to the rollover of unspent funds from 2021 (we are in the second year of a biennial budget). Another change from last month is that the budget for the Automated Materials Handler was moved from a Capital to a Services line item because the remainder of the contract with Envisionware is for yearly maintenance. Kristy Van Ness moved to approve the April 19, 2022 regular meeting minutes as amended and the April 2022 performance and activity measures and financial reports. Jim McCabe seconded. Motion carried.

Board Chair report:

- Rick noted the members of the Personnel Committee (Rick, Rebecca Craven, and Rebecca Judd) and reviewed the Trustee recruitment timeline for the current vacancy:
 - The Personnel Committee will be reviewing applications the week of May 23
 - The Committee will meet on June 1 to select candidates to interview
 - Interviews will be held in early-mid June
 - An Executive session will be held at the end of the June 21 Board meeting to finalize a candidate recommendation for the Mayor
 - If the Mayor approves of the recommendation, he will forward it to City Council for an August vote.

Rick added that the vacancy posting is still open and suggested Trustees invite potential candidates to apply.

- Rick noted that the City's ARPA Grant funding process is still underway. HVAC for the Central Library is still under consideration.
- The Library applied for a Capital Improvement Grant being offered through the State Library, and Rick thanked Jen, Annette and Rebecca Judd for their work on the application. The state has $10 million in funding for public library capital improvements for the July 1, 2023-June 30, 2025 biennium. It is a competitive process with a maximum grant award of $2 million. The chosen libraries must have one:one matching funds. Rebecca added that the State Library will communicate their recommended projects to the legislature in October.

Board member reports:

- No reports.

City Council liaison report:

- Kristina reported that the City Council hosted a Town Hall Meeting on May 16-Community Voices on Public Safety. She invited Board members and Friends of the Library to submit their comments or recommendations on this subject through the Engage Bellingham platform.

Friends of BPL report:

- Jennie thanked Kristy, Katie and Rebecca Judd for speaking at the Friends' Annual Meeting, and Katie for moderating.
- The Friends held a pop-up book sale on Saturday, May 14, where they made just over $2,000 despite the bad weather. They provided copies of the library's Master Facilities Plan Community Survey for patrons to fill out. Jennie added that Myra will be hosting an information table at this Saturday's Farmer's Market, and she will also have surveys on hand. Jennie thanked Annette for the new green tablecloths.
- The next pop-up book sale is scheduled for Saturday, June 11, including a children's pop-up sale.
- Jennie thanked the board for the opportunity to meet with the Godfrey's team. They discussed their book sale process and fund-raising ideas.
- Jennie also applauded the new wrap designs for the trucks.

Library Director report:

- Rebecca reported that Ryan Dowd's Skills for Interacting Confidently and Compassionately with Individuals in Crisis \(mountbakertheatre.com\) is this Friday, May 20. To date, there are 992 registrations. The Mayor will be providing welcoming remarks.
- Summer Reading for all ages starts June 1. Rebecca thanked everyone who is working on this program.
- Rebecca reminded the Trustees that Central's increased hours will take effect Monday, June 6. We will be open from 10 am to 7 pm Monday-Thursday, 10 am to 6 pm on Friday and Saturday.

Return to in-person Board meetings:

At the May 23 meeting, City Council will be discussing in-person Council meetings, and the Mayor will be following up with direction to City boards and commissions. Because the Library Board is a governing body, the Trustees also need to make a decision about returning to in-person Board meetings or remaining virtual. The discussion and decision are needed this month because the Governor's order requiring virtual meetings will expire in June. There are three options:

- 1) Return to in-person meetings
- 2) Remain virtual
- 3) Host a hybrid meeting.

Considerations for the decision include:

- If we choose to remain virtual, we will need to provide documentation – a motion noted in the meeting minutes – stating that we cannot hold in-person meetings with reasonable safety.
- Covid caseloads are starting to go up again in our local area. As many people are testing with home kits and not reporting to the County, experts suspect caseloads are underreported.
- The Proclamation of Local Emergency is still in effect.
- The Proclamation of State Emergency is still in effect.
- We can recommend, but not require, that attendees wear face masks.

Rick invited trustee comments:

- Jim commented that at a meeting at the Whatcom Unified Emergency Coordination Center, Liz Coogan, Emergency Manager for the City, stated that the operating guidance about masks is that they are optional. Jim asked if, under the Open Public Meetings Act, we would need a Special meeting to alter a decision to remain virtual. Rick responded that the Board would need to hold a Special meeting in that instance.
- Kristy commented that she would like to make sure everyone who comes to the meeting is comfortable.
- Rebecca Craven commented that, if we go to in-person meetings, she will wear a mask, adding that she isn't sure we are at a place of public necessity to return to in-person meetings. Her suggestion is that we remain virtual until we are told we can't.
- Jim agreed with Rebecca Craven's suggestion, saying virtual meetings are working well. He has some concern that some members of the public might feel excluded with Zoom access, but we have so few public commentors.

- Rebecca Craven asked Rebecca and Wendy if the library has received any requests for in-person board meetings. Rebecca and Wendy answered, "No."
- Rick concluded that the board consensus is to stay virtual for the June meeting, then reassess.

Rick stated, "I move that the Bellingham Public Library Board of Trustees continue to hold monthly Board meetings virtually because it cannot hold in-person meetings with reasonable safety. This determination is based on the following findings:

- The Proclamation of Local Emergency for COVID-19 issued on 3-12-2020 is still in effect for the City of Bellingham;
- The Proclamation of State Emergency for COVID-19 (20-05) issued on 2-29-2020 is still in effect for the State of Washington; and
- The most recent Whatcom County COVID-19 Data Report, issued 5-13-2022 for the period of 4-1-2022 to 4-30-2022, shows an increase in COVID-19 case counts and hospitalizations as follows:
 - Whatcom County experienced an increase in confirmed and probable COVID-19 case counts during April. The 7-day average daily case count climbed to 67 cases per day.
 - The 7-day rate for COVID-19 hospitalizations by specimen date among Whatcom County residents increased and reached 5.7 per 100K by the end of the month. An increase in COVID-19 hospitalizations occurred among individuals 65 and older during the month of April.

The Board shall revisit this decision at the June 21, 2022, Board meeting."

Jim McCabe seconded. Motion carried.

2023-2024 Budget update:

- Rebecca reported that the budget process kicked off at the April 25 City Council meeting. At this meeting, the Mayor outlined five priorities for 2023-2024:
 - 1) Public Safety, including alternative responses
 - 2) Continuing investment in climate action and reducing the City's climate impact
 - 3) Maintaining and expanding investments in affordable housing
 - 4) Supporting vulnerable populations
 - 5) Easing the effects of the coronavirus pandemic and supporting recovery efforts
- New funding requests for departments are due in early July
- There is a new Capital request process. The timeline for Capital requests has not been finalized.
- The management team will be preparing recommendations based on our Levels of Service, as well as right-sizing a few underfunded line items.
- Rebecca will have draft requests prepared for discussion at the June Board meeting.
- Rick added that he and Jim, as Chair and Vice-Chair, will meet with Rebecca prior to the June meeting to preview the requests and offer ideas.
- The Mayor will evaluate requests from all departments and deliver recommendations to Council on October 1. Council will then hold work sessions with departments and approve the budget in December.

Facilities Committee update:

- Rick reported that Godfrey's consultants were on site May 2-6 to meet with stakeholders and community members. On the final day, the consultants met with the Facilities Committee for a debrief.
- Rebecca noted that the one-on-one stakeholder meetings included all 7 Council members, all Library Trustees, a Zoom meeting with the Mayor, an in-person meeting with Blake Lyon, the new Planning and Community Development Director, and representatives from all 4 Connections libraries (including tours of the facilities). Eight focus groups were held including the Friends of Bellingham Public Library, 3 staff groups (management, librarians, and Public Service staff), a virtual session for parents with children, and 3 groups from neighborhoods north of I-5. Rebecca added there was a lot of rich conversation. One of the consultants attended storytimes at the mall and met with Children's staff. Another consultant, focused on technical and digital collection services, met with Jon, Doug and Paul.

- Jeff Jewel, Photo Archives Research Technician for Whatcom Museum, presented a photo history of the early libraries in Fairhaven, New Whatcom, and combined Bellingham. (see Attachment #1 for a selection of Jeff's historic library photos. All attachments are at the end of the minutes).

New Business:

- No new business.

Action items for next meeting:

- 2023-24 Operating budget proposal
- Revisit meeting format – virtual or in-person
- Executive session to determine a Trustee recommendation

Meeting adjourned at 4:56 p.m.

Next Regular Library Board Meeting – June 21, 2022 – Zoom meeting – 3:30 p.m.

DID YOU KNOW

. . . that Bellingham's present public library was opened in 1908, when we had only 4,000 books? And that during 1947, the library had a stock of 82,000 books alone, with 201,547 circulations of these volumes?

This is just one more of the many reasons Bellingham deserves a modern, serviceable library building. Watch for others.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT FOR June 21, 2022

This past month, as we have been hard at work on budget recommendations, I have been reflecting on where we are as an organization. We have said goodbye to many colleagues and have welcomed many newcomers. We have adapted services to meet changing public health directives and the changing needs of our community. We have torn up the main floor of the Central Library and put it back together better and brighter. We have a new community outreach vehicle! I am struck by how much we've grown, and how poised we are to thrive in the coming two years. (Rebecca Judd, Library Director)

WELCOME & INCLUDE

Our Staff: BPL will have two new librarians join the team this summer! A new full-time Adult Public Services Librarian begins on July 1 and a new Children's Public Services Librarian begins September 1. We are thrilled to introduce these individuals to the staff and the public over the next several months. A new Clerk will be joining the Public Services team soon, as we finish up the final pieces in the hiring process. In addition, we were able to create a pool of qualified candidates for the next 6 months in the event of a vacancy. We conducted an internal process to fill our four new 25-hour benefitted Library Assistant positions from our Library Assistant team. Congratulations to Natalia, Kathryn, Andy, and Siena! Our external Library Assistant staffing process is underway to fill four vacant 16-hour positions, with a planned start date mid-July to early-August. Alison Kuiken, Supervisor of Materials Handling & Distribution, will be taking leave for several months starting in late summer. We are soliciting interest from our staff to cover her leave. (Bethany Hoglund, Deputy Director; Jen Vander Ploeg, Head of Public Services and Operations)

June is Pride Month: Pride is the focus for BPL's displays at the Central Library. A special Pride webpage was created with reading lists and staff recommendations. These are being shared on social media, as well as in the Library's e-newsletter. (Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

ACCESS & OPPORTUNITY

Library Museum Passes: Mindport Exhibits has contacted BPL about providing 1 set of 4 free passes per day through the Library, in a similar manner offered by Whatcom Museum and Spark Museum. Staff are working on the details and plan to provide the passes beginning July 1. (Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

Broadband Advisory Workgroup: A draft of the Magellan Advisor's consultant report (18MB PDF) was provided at the May Broadband Advisory Workgroup meeting, and comments were returned at the first June meeting. The Workgroup was formed in February 2021 to advise the City about what role(s) the City should play in providing broadband services, and what policies the City should adopt to "increase quality, access, equity, and affordability of broadband...."

Additional Workgroup meetings are scheduled for June 21, July 19, and Aug. 2. (Jon McConnel, Head of Digital Services)

READ & LEARN

Summer Reading: Summer Reading for all ages began June 1, and we look forward to a fun summer filled with engagement over books and stories. Highlights include resuming storytimes at the Central Library for ages birth – 8 years, conducting Storytimes at the Mall one day per week, hosting Parties in the Park, and the return of the Children's Craft Fair in July. Summer Readers of all ages can get a "Summer Reading SUPERSTAR Lives Here!" yard or window sign upon completing their personal summer reading challenge. Thank you to the Friends of the Bellingham Public Library and Whatcom Educational Credit Union for sponsoring Summer Reading 2022. (Bethany Hoglund, Deputy Library Director)

Ryan Dowd presents "Skills for Interacting Confidently with Individuals in Crisis": More than 1,000 registrations were received for the Ryan Dowd event hosted by Bellingham Public Library at the Mount Baker Theatre on May 20. Over 700 participated across two sessions, including many City of Bellingham employees from numerous departments. The event was extremely well received throughout our community. The Library is now communicating with the City of Bellingham HR department about offering Ryan Dowd's online trainings to all City employees. (Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

INFORM & INVOLVE

Class Visits: Youth Services staff has kept busy conducting class visits and summer reading book talks to students at the library, in schools, and virtually. Some recent visits include:

- Seven 2nd grade classes from Irene Reither Elementary visiting to learn about librarians as community helpers
- Resuming monthly off-site visits to preschool classrooms
- Virtual book talks to all Wade King Elementary students
- Class visits to the Fairhaven Branch Library

In total, the Youth Services Staff have conducted presentations to nearly 50 classes and groups in the past month. It feels so good to be back in person with kids & teens! (Bethany Hoglund, Deputy Library Director)

Juneteenth: To support the activities of this holiday, Bellingham Public Library shared the Juneteenth video produced by Ferndale Connect and featuring Kristina Michele Martens and Terrance "TeeJay" Morris. BPL also shared the details for the Juneteenth celebration Saturday, June 18, 2 – 6 p.m. in Maritime Heritage Park. (Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

COVID-19 vaccine clinic June 9: Bellingham Public Library partnered with Bellingham School District to provide their final COVID-19 clinic of the school year in the Lecture Room at the Central Library. They vaccinated 85 people, and 55 were age 11 or under. They loved hanging out in the children's library as they awaited their vaccines. (Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

Community Outreach events: The Library has been steadily receiving requests for participation in community outreach events throughout the summer months. Our BPL feather banners have arrived, and our Community Relations Specialist Jenni Johnson has been busy coordinating supplies and new procedures for these events outside our buildings. On June 12, Librarian Suzanne Carlson-Prandini and Specialist Julie Mauermann provided a Library presence at the League of Women Voters' event "Live, Listen, Learn, Explore: A Day of Uplifting Black, Indigenous, People of Color within Whatcom County," and spoke with 200 participants. (Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

THRIVE & GROW

Vehicle Wraps: The Library's Mitsubishi Outlander has been wrapped with our logo and fun design and is now in service! The liftgate truck will go to the sign company on Tuesday, June 21 to be wrapped and picked up on Friday, June 24. (Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

2021 Statistical Report Submitted to Washington State Library: The team effort on this annual task concluded with on-time submission of our 2021 data, which fulfills the mandate of RCW 27.12.260: Annual Report of Trustees. The State Library will review and collate data submitted by all the public libraries in the state before publishing the 2021 Washington Public Library Statistics and a summary report later this year. They then submit Washington's annual data to the Public Libraries Survey of the federal Institute of Museum and Library Services. I also incorporate all of the Washington 2021 data into a comparison tool that combines the State's data since 2000. (Jon McConnel, Head of Digital Services)

Security Attendants uniforms refreshed: With a new Security Attendant on board, the Library ordered new uniforms for the entire 4-person Security Attendants team. This included slightly updating the look, colors, and styles of the gear. (Annette Bagley, Head of Community Relations)

Automated Materials Handler Maintenance: A service technician from the AMH vendor visited in early June and gave our machine a clean bill of health. The Library Assistants are doing a great job with ongoing cleaning, which helps the mechanical parts work smoothly. Meanwhile, we are working with the vendor to try to find a way to mitigate issues with the performance of the computers installed in the machine. (Jon McConnel, Head of Digital Services)

Facilities round-up: The City ADA Coordinator (Holly Pederson) did a walk-through of the Central Library to assess areas that could improve our accessibility. She noted some possible projects and is working with the Library and Public Works to explore improvement options. Public Works and IT are working on a project to install technology in the Library Boardroom that will facilitate virtual meetings, as well as meetings that are a combination of in-person and virtual. Improvements will include a new digital display and an OWL for camera/audio. (Jen Vander Ploeg, Head of Public Services and Operations)

Rebecca Judd

2023-2024 Budget proposal

MEMORANDUM

TO: DEPARTMENT HEADS AND BUDGETEERS
FROM: FORREST LONGMAN, DEPUTY FINANCE DIRECTORS
CC: MAYOR SETH FLEETWOOD; ANDREW ASBJORNSEN, FINANCE DIRECTOR
SUBJECT: 2023-2024 BUDGET INSTRUCTIONS
DATE: MAY 25, 2022

This memo describes expectations, process, and timeline for development of the 2023-2024 Biennial Budget.

Overall Finances and Priorities

The City's financial situation is strong, having benefited from prudent financial planning and a robust economy. However, new economic forecasts are suggesting a high likelihood of economic slowdown in 2023. While our financial situation is robust enough that we need not overreact to changes to our outlook, it does suggest that program expansions this budget cycle should be modest.

As always, the budget will seek to maintain city services, take care of city-owned assets, and remain on a strong financial footing.

Beyond those enduring goals, the Mayor has set the following overarching priorities for this budget cycle:

- Public safety – including alternative responses
- Continuing investment in climate action and reducing climate impact
- Maintaining and expanding investments in affordable housing
- Supporting vulnerable populations
- Mitigating the impacts of COVID-19 and supporting the community as we emerge from the pandemic

Process and Timeline

This budget process began with department review and correction of existing employee salary allocations; this is ongoing. Policy review will follow several steps. Expect to have approximately four weeks to complete each step that requires department action.

1. Initial development of budget requests (May – Early August):

Operating: Departments will have until July 8 to complete Change Requests in Questica. These should provide the information necessary to evaluate requests that change the department's workplan, programming, or overall funding levels.

All operational changes must be requested via the Change Request process in Questica.

Capital: Departments will have until August 5 to complete Change Requests in Questica for capital projects. All projects should be submitted via Change Request.

2. Budget Entry Period (May – Mid August): Questica is open to departments. It will be closed to changes on August 12. During this period, Questica is available for departments to make technical changes to their budgets, such as moving budget between line items. These changes should be de minimis and not change the overall authorized budget in any meaningful way.
3. Budget Review and Financial Balancing (July - September): The Mayor and his budget team will review and analyze all budget requests. Department Heads will have an opportunity to present their budget to the budget team.
4. Budget Delivered to Council September 28

Please do not hesitate to contact the budget team with any comments, concerns, or questions:

Established Level of Service Standards:

From 2015 to 2018 the Bellingham Public Library (BPL) Board of Trustees worked with library management to develop a series of Level of Service (LOS) standards to evaluate and determine how resources dedicated to the library benchmark against community needs and expectations. LOS standards were established in four major areas of library services:

- Library facilities—square footage per capita;
- Open hours per week for the Central Library and for the library branches;
- Library materials—expenditures per capita;
- Library staffing in FTE.

To develop these standards, peer libraries across the nation and libraries within the state of Washington were used as benchmarks. Comparisons with these libraries confirmed that Bellingham Public Library had a higher level of usage per capita than most libraries. This demonstrated use and demand from the community also factored into the development of these LOS standards. Each standard identifies three levels of service:

1. Low or minimal – needed to provide the most basic of library services;
2. Medium or operational – allows the library to provide all needed services;
3. High or optimal – allows the library to enhance services.

In 2017, BPL and the City of Bellingham initiated a sustainability funding study for the Library's future. The consulting firm BERK was hired to conduct the study and produce a report—"Bellingham Public Library Services and Funding Models Study," published December 2017.

On November 13, 2017, BERK presented findings from the report to the Bellingham City Council. At that meeting the City Council voted unanimously on the motion "...moved to direct the Administration to give recommendations to the Library Board of Trustees to move forward to Goal 2 {i.e., medium/operational} or 3 {i.e., high/optimal} as a priority.
